

Pool Temperature Update

We would like to inform you that the HVAC unit responsible for heating the pool is currently out of service. Replacement parts have been ordered; however, due to supply timelines, they are not expected to arrive for approximately two months.

During this period, we have been manually heating the pool using the boiler. As a result, you may notice fluctuations in water temperature, ranging from cooler to warmer than usual. Unfortunately, this manual process is the only available method for maintaining heat until the necessary repairs can be completed.

To help you prepare for your swim, we will notify the JCC front desk of the pool temperature each day and will post it on a whiteboard on the pool deck.

Our goal is to keep the pool open and at a usable temperature throughout this time, though we recognize that these conditions are not ideal. We sincerely apologize for the inconvenience and for any impact this may have on your swimming experience.
